The Basic Elements of Scoring

- ❖ Lineup / Batting Order - the order in which players hit in any one particular game
- ❖ Out - when a player hits the ball and it results in an out
- ❖ Hit - when a player hits the ball and it does not result in an out
- ❖ Run - when a runner on base scores
- ❖ Run Batted In - when a runner on base scores as a result of another player's hit

- ▶ 1B - Single - a player hits the ball that results in no outs and the runner ending up on first base.
- ▶ 2B - Double - a player hits the ball that results in no outs and the runner ends up on second base.
- ▶ 3B - Triple - a player hits the ball that results in no outs and the runner ends up on third base.
- ▶ HR - Home Run - a player hits the ball that results in no outs and the runner scores!

Scoring Runs

- ❖ Runs are scored when a player reaches home safely. In the example to the right you will see the phases of tracking a runner's progression.
- ❖ At the end of each inning, the scorer would add all of the runs that have been scored and would tally that run at the bottom of the sheet.

Home Runs

There are four different types of home runs that are scored:

- ▶ HR - Solo - a player hits a home run with no runners on base - they are the only one to score. In the example - Babe Ruth hits a solo home run without a runner on base.
- ▶ 2HR - Two-Run Home Run - a player hits the ball with one runner on base - two runs score. In the example Bruce Lee hits a two-run home run as Lisa Loeb was already on base with a single.
- ▶ 3HR - Triple - a player hits the ball with two runners on base - three runs score. In the example Al Tuck & No Action are on base when Drake hits a home run.
- ▶ GS - Grand Slam - a player hits the bases loaded - four runs score. In the example Missy Elliot hits a home run that scores RiRi, Bey, and Solange!

The Fielder's Choice

Of the 4 types of outs, the Fielder's Choice is the most complicated to score - so let's walk through it:

- ▶ Possible scenarios - there could be a runner on first, a runner on first and second, or a runners on each base.
- ▶ Action - the ball is hit on the ground resulting in each runner being forced to move from their base to the next base.
- ▶ Reaction - the defensive player determines that it is easier to throw out an advancing runner than to attempt to throw out the batter at first base.
- ▶ Result - the throw is caught by the appropriate fielder and/or a defensive player with the ball tags the base before the advancing runner

Scoring the Fielder's Choice

Let's use our case study to understand the scoring here:

- ❖ Al Tuck has reached base safely with a single.
- ❖ No Action follows and hits a ground ball in which Al Tuck is called out attempting to reach second base. Here we use an “X” to indicate that Al Tuck is now out.
- ❖ Now No Action is the runner on first and so we indicate this with a single line (as we had done for Al Tuck) .
- ❖ But we know that No Action's at-bat resulted in an out - so we do not score it a single (1B), instead we score it a fielder's choice (FC) - the defender made a choice as to which runner they were going to get out.

	Lisa Loeb
	Bruce Lee
	Al Tuck

- ▶ In the example to the right, Babe Ruth is on base with a double. Lisa Loeb hits a ground ball and is thrown out at first base.
- ▶ Despite Loeb calling on Ruth to “stay”, Ruth continues running and is able to score.
- ▶ Because Ruth scored on a ball that was struck by Loeb, Loeb is credited with a run batted in.
- ▶ If multiple players score on a ball that is struck, we would credit RBI, 2RBI, 3RBI, 4RBI based on how many scored on the play.

The Sacrifice Fly

A sacrifice fly is a unique play that requires unique scoring.

- ▶ The video to the right shows an example of a sacrifice fly. Here the hitter hits a fly ball that is caught for an out, but once the ball is caught - the runner on 3rd base tags up and then proceeds to score.
- ▶ Check it out!
